From: "Edward Schlee" <profted1@hotmail.com> on 10/07/2007 08:55:03 AM

Subject: Truth in Lending

Credit card regulations at present certainly favor the issuer. I would hope the federal reserve would make changes to make the playing field more level. Banks are preying on the poor and ignorant. From the constant offers of credit to really uncredit worthy people one can assume this is good business ,though completely unworthy of our banking institutions.